Boy Gives Neighbors a Hand

John Lawson Uses Tractor Plow To Clean Walks

A 12-year-old Marion boy's idea of fun saves many of his neighbors from having backaches after a snow.

Johnny Lawson of 1070 E. Center St. makes a tour of his neighborhood plowing snow off the sidewalks with a tractor-like affair.

His implement is a small garden tractor equipped with a snow-cleaning blade.

THIS IS THE first year he has had the opportunity to try his skill on the machine in the snow. It was brought into Marion from the Lawson's summer farm after the property was sold a short time ago.

John described his job as "a lot of fun." He said he had wanted to do the same thing in other years, but the machine was always at the farm.

On his first snow plowing trip this winter, he made a path up E. Center St. to Madison Ave. From there, he went part way up Madison, then came back and did the south sidewalk on Center St. He went west to Pennsylvania Ave., up Pennsylvania to Church St., and back down to Center St.

—:—

A GASOLINE station operator at Barnhart St. and E. Center St. gave the boy two dollars to plow out his driveway and pumping area.

JOHN LAWSON returns home after cleaning the sidewalks in his neighborhood. He uses a snow-plow attachment on the front end of a small garden tractor.

This was the only reward John got, except for the fun he had.

One of John's friends, Dan Shoemarker, also 12, of 119 Johnson St. rode on the back of the tractor during the jaunt, and helped out when the going became a little too tough for the driver.

BUMPS WERE the only drawback in the operation. John and Dan both agreed they got quite a jolt whenever they struck a rough spot in the surface. They said several times they felt as though they might be jarred from their seat.

Not much gasoline was used in the trip. The boys started out in the morning with a full tank, about two gallons. They stopped for about 15 cents worth of fuel once, and, at the end of the trek, still had almost a half tank.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Howard Lawson. Dan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shoemaker. Both boys are in the seventh grade at Eber Baker Junior High School.

Girl, 3, Dies in Home Blaze; Six Other Youngsters Safe

A three-year-old Marion girl was killed in a fire last night which destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson of Lindberg Ave. just west of the city limits.

The little blonde-haired girl, Joyce, was one of seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson who were alone in the house at the time the fire started. They range in age from one to nine.

FIREMEN SAID Joyce apparently died of suffocation caused by heat and smoke in the burning home.

Caused by an exploding kerosene cooking stove in the kitchen of the four-room frame house, the fire quickly raced through other rooms and was raging out of control when firemen arrived, shortly after they were called at 9:40 p.m. Sunday. Loss to house and contents was estimated at $3,000 by firemen.

The two oldest girls of the family, Nancy, 7, and Carol, 9, later told their parents they ran out of the house carrying the two youngest children, Edward, 1, and Larry, 2, when the fire broke out.

They also had the other children, John, 5, Patricia, 6, and Joyce safely outside. But Joyce broke away from Carol and ran back into the burning house.

THE OLDER CHILDREN attempted to follow her back into the house but were forced back and restrained by neighbors who had now arrived at the scene.

In the excitement, there was a misunderstanding and it was thought the mother, Ella Mae, was inside the house but that all the children were safe outside.

First of the neighbors to arrive at the fire was Donald Starr, who lives just north of the Robinson home on Lindberg Ave. Within seconds, another neighbor, Luther Skivers, also arrived and when he learned that someone was in the house, attempted to enter the now blazing house but was forced back and overcome by heat and smoke.

—:—

ABOUT THE SAME TIME Fred Zimmerman, another neighbor, called the fire department.

At the time the fire started, Skivers was visiting at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Belford Hook, who lives across the street and just north of the Robinson home.

Mrs. Hook said she and Skivers and her children were sitting in the living room of her home watching television when she saw a flash of flame at the rear of the Robinson home.

"I called to my husband that the Robinson's house was on fire and my brother-in-law jumped up and ran out the door," Mrs. Hook said today. Mr. Hook was in bed at the time.

Marion Faces Strike of Bus Drivers Friday

Operators Ask Heating Repairs; Owner Says Company Lacks Funds

A strike of the 16 drivers for the Marion Transit Inc. will begin Friday unless the company meets workers' demands that heating equipment in the vehicles be repaired.

John Tanner, president of Local 222, Transit Workers Union of America, said today the drivers had voted to refuse to drive the buses unless the equipment is repaired.

No Money for Repairs

Floyd W. Kreisel, president of the company, said he knew the workers had a just grievance, but the company had no money with which to repair the heaters.

He explained the number of riders has fallen off in the past year from a figure of about 3,400 per day to about 2,300 per day now.

In the same period, he added, the number of students riding the buses has decreased by about one-half. He said their numbers dropped from an average of 800 per day to about 400 per day.

Need More Patronage

"The only way in which the company can meet the drivers' requests," he said, "is for the patronage to increase. He said the company was in bad financial condition, and did not have the money to make the changes.

Tanner said the union members felt they had a right to have heat in the buses. He called it "murder" to ride a bus all day with no heat.

The union is asking for a partial remedy of the conditions at once, and a complete repair program in the future.

Earlier Company Folds

A predecessor bus company, the Marion Rapid Transit Co., was driven from business by similar financial difficulties.

Two years ago, drivers for that company asked for a pay increase, which the company officials said they were unable to grant because of lack of funds. Drivers went on strike, and the company went out of busines.

2-Inch Snow Blankets City, More Forecast

About two inches of snow blanketed Marion and area this morning in the wake of a mass of cold air moving out of Canada.

Total precipitation here, including both rain which fell during the night and the snow early this morning, totaled .23 of an inch.

Snow continued to fall throughout the day and more snow is forecast for tonight with temperatures expected to drop to around 24 as it becomes windy and colder. Tuesday is expected to be mostly cloudy and continued rather windy and cold with more snow flurries.

At noon today the temperature stood at the freezing mark, 32 degrees. The high temperature yesterday was 42 while the low recorded last night was 32.

Rain, sleet and snow pelted the eastern part of the United States with the storm that was expected to dump a heavy fall of snow in western Pennyslvania and New York already having dropped up to .75 of an inch of rain in the Carollinas and Virginia, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Pennsylvania had varied fare-snow, sleet and rain. The eastern Great Lakes region had rain and snow. Southern Missiouri had snow flurries.

Trough the northern and Central Plains, early morning temperatures ranged in the 20s. It was colder than that to the west, down to Eagle, Colo.'s 5 above, andSti te Eagle, Colo.'s 5 above, and a little warmer to the east.

Service Clubs, Army Kettles Collect $543

Children and grownups in Marion's less fortunate families and those whose ages or infirmities prevent them from providing an adequate livelihood are assured of a Merry Christmas in 1953, thanks to the generosity of the more fortunate and the work of local service clubs.

Salvation Army kettles, manned by members of Marion Service Clubs Saturday, collected $543.27. The money will be used by the Army to provide dinners for families and the aged and toys for children.

Clubs stationed at various points in the business district and their collections for the day are as follows: 20-30 Club at Kresge's South Side Store, $43.06; Lions Club, Kresge's North Side Store, $78.83; Lions Club, Schulte's Corner, $118.78; Kiwanis Club, J. C. Penney Store, $103.72; Jay-Cees, Marion County Bank, $117.63; Y Men's Club, National City Bank, $81.25.

Contributions this year were below those of last year when $623.47 was given by volunteer donors.

Captain Mary Nisiewicz, who is in charge of the Marion Corps, today expressed her appreciation of the work of the clubs and the generous response of the citizens.

UPPER SANDUSKY — Glenn E. Kuenzli, 35, of Upper Sandusky, was killed instantly last night when his car ran off Route 67 three miles north of here, and overturned.

Wyandot County Sheriff Dean McAllister who investigated the accident, said the car veered out of control on a curve, jumped a wire farm fence and overturned three times in a field. Kuenzli was thrown from the auto and was found lying in a ditch alongside the highway. The accident happened about 10:55 p.m.

22 American POWs Refuse Explanations

NNRC Head Sees Move As Plot To Stall Talks; Deadline Fast Nearing

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya said today he believes the 22 American prisoners of the Korean War who refuse to quit the Communists are attempting to permanently stall off Allied attempts to coax them home.

Thimayya said the Indian command would make every effort to get the explanations started, but there was little possibility they would get under way in less than four or five days.

Ten Days To Go

Time is fast running out; the explanation period ends Dec. 23.

Only hours before they were scheduled to appear, the 22 balky Americans refused to meet with interviewers. They said they won't leave their barbed wire compounds unless fellow pro-Communist South Korean prisoners also agree to attend the sessions. This the South Koreans have refused to do for three days.

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, headed by Thimayya, met for an hour studying protests filed by both the South Korean and American prisoners.

Thimayya labeled absurd some of the South Korean complaints and said they only could have been made to stall the explanations.

Demand To Be Heard

The Korean POWs, Thimayya said, were insisting on the right to make counter-explanations and long statements to explainers.

He said 21 of the 22 balky Americans signed a petition asking that "several points be clarified" in the South Korean POWs stand.

Thimayya did not amplify, except to add that the Americans maintained they were not attempting to impede the work of the commission.

The general said the Americans asked that their one fellow POW who didn't sign the petition go before the explainers, but that he refused. Thimayya did not identify him.

Thimayya said he couldn't understand why the Americans suddenly changed their position and refused to go to the explanations.

"They promised me, honestly, they would come out," he said.

'Where Did I Fail?' She Sobs

Red GI's Letter Informs Mother He'll Not Return

TOKYO (AP) — "Where did I fail him. Oh, where did I fail?" an American mother sobbed today after learning from her son that he will not leave the Communists and return home.

Tears welling in her eyes, Mrs. Portia Howe of Alden, Minn., held in her lap a two-page letter from her soldier son, one of the 22 Americans in the barbed wire pro-Communist camp at Panmunjom.

"I know that you want to take me home with you, but I have made up my mind and I am not going," Pfc. Richard R. Tenneson wrote his mother, who flew 7,000 miles in the hope of persuading him to come back.

His letter renounced life in the United States and heaped scorn on his country.

A New Testament in her hand, the 43-year-old mother spoke bitterly of communism—

"I want his whole letter released to the public. I think people should know how vicious a thing communism is. If it can destroy a home, it can disintegrate a nation.

"I have not given up hope that someday my son will come back to me. I have not given up my faith in God nor Richard. Sooner or later he will see the light."

And, turning to her Bible, she read from Proverbs 2-6:

"Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it.'

In his letter, the 20-year-old Tenneson, only 17 when he left the United States, jeered at his country and said United States authorities are afraid to let her visit him at Panmunjom.

The Defense Department has banned visits by relatives to the 22 Americans lest it create complications in the already tangled prisoner explanations.

Dean Recalled To Washington For Policy Talk

PANMUNJOM (AP)—U. S. special envoy Arthur H. Dean leaves tomorrow for consultation in Washington, leaving his chief aide in Korea "to see if the Communists wish to resume" the ruptured negotiations to set up a Korean peace conference.

Dean, who met for eight weeks with the Reds in an effort to reach agreement, walked out on the Communist diplomats Saturday after they accused the Allies of "perfidy."

He told newsmen today that his aide, Kenneth Young of the U. S. State Department, will have "full authority to resume the talks . . . if the Communists withdraw the perfidy charges and give some sign they are ready to negotiate in good faith."

However, the Communists' Peiping radio already had reasserted the perfidy charges and laid the blame for the breakdown on the "contemptible cold war policy of the United States."

Peiping said Dean's walkout was "an ominous sign that the U. S. government might commit further perfidies of graver consequence."

Dean said in a statement it is "the definite policy of the United States of America that every reasonable attempt should be made to work out the difficulties and to convene the political peace conference, but it would not compromise a slur on its integrity."

Full Voting Participant

Dean again repeated the U. N. stand that Russia be invited to the peace conference as a full voting participant on the Communist side and not as a neutral, as the Reds have insisted. This was the big stumbling block in the talks.

Dean plans to arrive Thursday in Washington to talk with U. S. authorities and representatives of some of the other United Nations that sent troops to Korea.

The preliminary Panmunjom talks were aimed at fixing the time, date and composition of the long-delayed peace conference.

Bitter disputes over which nations should sit at the peace table bogged down the discussions. Dean walked out after the Reds accused the U. S. government of deliberately conniving in the release of 27,000 anti-Red North Korean prisoners June 17-18. The Koreans were released by order of President Syngman Rhee of South Korea.

Comment on Walkout

In Paris, where U. S. Secretary of State Dulles arived to attend NATO Council sessions, correspondents were told Dean's walkout was "not an emotional reaction to Communist provocation."

Rather, the correspondents learned, it was due to "failure of the Communists to change one dot of an unacceptable plan."

Dulles declined to make a direct statement, saying he had not had time to study official dispatches.

However, it was learned that the American view was that continuation of the talks were useless unless the Communists indicate willingness to change their stand on the neutral issue.

Aircraft Firm Says 7-Week Strike Settled

Agreement To Cover Columbus, California North American Plants

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Settlement of the strike at North American Aviation, Inc., which began more than seven weeks ago, was announced today by a company spokesman.

The spokesman said E. D. Starkweather, company director of industrial relations, came out of a marathon negotiation conference about 3:30 a.m. to announce the settlement.

Starkweather said the economic terms were the same as the company offered before the walkout of 33,000 began Oct. 23 at plants in Los Angeles, Fresno, Calif., and Columbus, Ohio.

The company stood firmly on a wage increase offer of 4 per cent, or 8 to 20 cents an hour. The CIO-United Auto Workers Union originally asked 26 cents, then scaled down the demand to 20 cents for skilled workers, 10 cents for others. Pre-strike wages ranged from $1.42 to $2.32 an hour.

The spokesman said the union negotiators would arrange for membership meetings as soon as possible, since the settlement requires membership ratification.

Confirming the settlement agreement, Frank Winn, UAW public relations director, said he could

Streamliner Slams Into Station Wagon On Crossing, Kills 6

ROYSE CITY, Tex. (AP)—A whistling diesel streamliner slammed a station wagon off its tracks last night, killing a hard-of-hearing father, his wife, three children and their maid.

The hurtling automobile tripped a switch that derailed the twin engines and 10 cars of the sparkling red-and-silver train, en route from Dallas to St. Louis. Five rear cars held to the rails.

Five train passengers were sent to hospitals. An estimated 30 more were bruised or shaken up.

The twin diesel engines plowed 200 yards past the demolished station wagon and came to rest leaning at sharp angles to the ground.

Strike by Bus Drivers Ended At Zanesville

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Zanesville's buses ran again today, ending—for the time being at least—a weekend strike of drivers and mechanics.

The AFL Teamsters Union, which struck at the 5 p. m. rush hour Saturday, agreed yesterday to sugestions offered in the Zanesville Sunday Times-Signal to call the strike while a fact - finding board studies differences between the union and the Zanesville Rapid Transit Co

The suggestion, made in a front page editorial was for establishment of a board composed of a union representative, a company representative and a third person chosen by the other two. The union agreed to go back to work today.

At a negotiating session Thursday, the union reduced its wage demands from 25 cents to 12 cents an hour. The company's 40 drivers get $1.37 an hour; its 13 mechanics get $1.60.

Lewis Jones, secretary-treasurer of the local, then asked the Chamber of Commerce to underwrite the difference. A merchants' meeting was set for today. But when it appeared Saturday that the businessmen wouldn't go along with the idea, the union struck.

Differs With Congressmen

American Farm Bureau To Recommend Program

CHICAGO (AP) — President Allan B. Kline said today the annual convention of his American Farm Bureau Federation would give the "correct" answer to the question of what kind of program farmers want.

The answer, he said, will not be what members of the powerful House Agriculture Committee came up with in recent farm area tours. The committee will have much to say about new farm legislation the Eisenhower administration will seek at the coming session of Congress.

The congressional committee said it learned that most farmers want present war-born 90 per cent of parity price supports continued for major crops.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices, declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay.

Kline, who has had several verbal clashes with members of the House committee, said the Farm Bureau convention opening here today would stand pat in its opposition to use of the rigid, high-level price floors after 1954, and would again endorse a system of flexible or variable supports.

Some delegates from Southern states said they would wage a convention fight for present support programs, but none disagreed with Kline's forecast of the outcome.

Under a variable system, supports would be high in times of shortages to encourage production and low in times of surpluses to discourage output.

One of the chief national proponents of such a support plan, Kline was expected by friends to be a candidate for re-election despite a doctor's advice that he retire to his Iowa corn-hog farm and take it easier.

Renewed Farm Bureau rejection of high supports would be good news for Secretary of Agriculture Benson, who is scheduled to address the convention Wednesday. The GOP farm chief, like Kline, blames present programs for current surpluses and declining export markets.

Chairman Walter Randolph of the convention Platform Committee predicted the bureau would take a "strong stand' in requesting greater efforts on the part of the government in promoting world trade. Randolph is president of the Alabama Farm bureau and is expected to be chosen vice president of the American Farm Bureau, a post now vacant.

Dwight McClarren Heads Fair Board In Morrow County

MT. GILEAD — Dwight McClarren, Washington Township Guernsey breeder and farmer, was named secretary of the Morrow County Fair Board at their regular meeting last week.

McClarren, former deputy county auditor, succeeds Glen Brown of Gilead Township, who resigned from the position after serving as secretary for the past seven years. All officers of the Agricultural Society were re-elected to a second term. Officers are Walter Hardesty, Bennington Township, president; Walter Long, Cardington, vice president; and Earl Hershner, Perry, treasurer.

The fair board president reported that the past year's fair broke even at the gate. Attendance was up at the last exposition to make it one of the few in recent years to break even.

Fair dates for the 104th annual event have been approved by the State board of Agriculture, Hardesty announced. The 1954 fair will be held on the same dates as last year, August 18, 19, 20 and 21.

Total admissions at the gate at the last fair amounted to $7,084.75 and at the grand stand $2,769.75. Total receipts for the year were $26,945.56. The fair board started with a balance of $717.37 in the treasury.

Biggest amount expense was a total of $10,665 paid in premiums in the Senior fair. Special attractions cost $2,516, payment on a loan, $2,269.21; rent of equipment, $2,084; and Junior fair premiums amounted to $1,931. Total expenses were $27,218.

Tug of War Over U.S. Policy

Controversy Over Tariffs Gets Hotter

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The tariff battle gets white hot. Both sides are slugging hard — those who want American industries (particularly theirs) protected from foreign competition, and those who want trade barriers lowered so that they can sell more American goods (particularly their own products) to other lands.

Into this welter of words come two suggestions that maybe another way can be found to solve part of the world's trade problems—that maybe the question of U.S. tariffs is getting too much stress, both here and in Europe.

One is set forth by the American Iron & Steel Institute. It holds that our piecemeal tariff policy is outdated. It asks for an entirely new approach to the whole foreign trade question.

The institute would set up a foreign trade commission. The present U.S. Tariff Commission would become merely a fact - finding board under the new one, and the Export - Import Bank would become merely its fiscal arm. The new commission would look into all phases of world trade and give a "constant review of changing factors in the foreign economic scene."

Another view — and some are guessing it may come close to what the administration will finally ask of Congress—is set forth by Juan T. Trippe, president of Pan American World Airways, after consultations with Washington leaders. He calls it a middle ground view.

Trippe would soft-pedal the battle over tariffs by extending the reciprocal trade agreements act for two years with a mandatory review of all present tariff schedules during that period.

Then he would concentrate on ending burdensome frontier formalities, on increasing duty exemption to American travellers to $1,000 from the present $500, seek ways to increase American investments abroad and boost American tourist travel. Pan Am, engaged in international transportation, would gain from all these plans.

But middle-of-the-road proposals won't cut off the stream of talk about tariff policy.

Failure of State To Fix Truck Agreements Hit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two statewide associations of county officials have assailed Ohio's refusal to negotiate reciprocal agreements granting truckers in other states immunity from the new Ohio highway use tax.

The Ohio County Commissioners and the County Engineers associations has urged the General Assembly, which meets Jan. 11 in special session to approve issuance of a half billion dollars in highway bonds, "refrain from approving plans or committing funds for such purposes until the matter of reciprocal relations with other states is fully and completely restored."

The associations charged Ohio's failure to conclude reciprocal agreements on the axle-mile tax was resulting in the cancelation of agreements by other states on licensing and other forms of truck taxes. They said the policy will force Ohio truckers to register outside Ohio in order to enjoy reciprocity benefits with other states.

Ohio State Is Fifth Largest Of Universities

Special to The Star

COLUMBUS — Ohio State University's full-time enrollment this fall ranks it fifth in size among the nation's colleges and universities.

This was revealed today by Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati, in his annual enrollment report prepared for the educational publication "School and Society."

On the basis of grand total enrollment, Ohio State is ninth largest among the institutions of higher education.

Full-time student registration reported by the largest universities included:

University of California, 33,382; State University of New York, 21,268; University of Minnesota, 19,074; University of Michigan, 17,500; and Ohio State, 17,397.

Grand total enrollment figures include:

New York University, 38,914; City College of New York, 28,482; State University of New York, 27,862; Minnesota, 25,715; Columbia University, 24,870; University of Illinois, 24,436; Boston University, 21,758; Michigan, 20,866; and Ohio State, 19,652.

Ohio State's total enrollment this fall was up more than 5 per cent over last autumn's figure of 18,688 —a gain several times larger than the 1.3 per cent increase for all universities throughout the country.try.

Student population at Ohio State at present is sixth largest in the 81-year history of the University. It was surpassed only during the five post-war years of 1946-50; when veteran enrollment was at its peak.

Ohio State's post-war low of 18,618, registered in 1951, proved to be well above the highest pre-war enrollment figure of 13,293, recorded in 1939. All-time high enrollment at Ohio State was 25,403 in 1947.

Energy for the World's Work

The prompt refusal of Soviet spokesmen initialy to see anything useful in President Eisenhower's proposal for pooling atomic research is typical of Communist obstructionism.

Thus, the United States is able to claim credit for giving nuclear fission a positive, hopeful aspect after years of unbroken terror resulting from demonstrations of its power to destroy life and property.

In efforts to understand this aspect, Americans need to remember that their own atomic experts have resented the necessity for stressing the destructive uses of nuclear fission. They have preferred to think of it from the beginning as the ultimate source of energy to do the world's work.

They have been afraid of what might happen if U.S. militarists and bureaucrats succeeded in stifling its potentialities for industrial advancement.

There is reason to suspect this may have put the United States under a handicap in comparison with at least two other countries — Britain and Russia.

It is possible that both may have gained a head start on the United States in the development of nuclear fission as a source of industrial energy. It is possible that in a pooling of atomic research for nonmilitary purposes the United States might have a great deal to gain.

If the research were to be pooled without the Soviet Union, it is likely that the free world would gain an immediate advantage in productive capacity not only for peacetime use but for wartime too.

Of all the countless times the Communists have said, "No" this was the time they could least afford to admit that obstructionism is the only foreign policy they possess.

Saturday's announcement that they had consented to give the proposal serious thought may be an indication they have reversed their earlier stand.

Republican Trademark

An event more important than many events which will make news is the quiet conference Republicans have called on next year's legislative program.

If it is not news that President Eisenhower is meeting with congressional leaders, it is nevertheless a fact of first-rate importance in politics. Here is a demonstration of something so distinctively Republican in its bearing on government that it might almost be called the party's trademark.

There have been two kinds of relationships between presidents and congressmen in this century. The Democrats' way was to send down instructions from the White House to the legislative underlings in the Capitol and purge them if they dared to disobey.

Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman used this dictatorial method. The effect on the Democratic party and on the relationship between the White House and Congress is a matter of historic record.

Of six Republican presidents in this century, only one used the dictatorial method — Theodore Roosevelt. McKinley, Taft, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover were considerate of the prerogatives of Congress.

Eisenhower has tried to be considerate of the prerogatives of Congress, too. It is a good bet he will continue to try; his faith in teamwork is the keystone of his philosophy of public service. It is a characteristic which made him attractive to voters when he ran for the presidency.

Whether it also is a characteristic which will enable him to lead the Republican party successfully into the 1954 congressional elections will be determined to a large extent in the meetings now being held in Washington.

Sugar Coated Corruption

Ohio's welfare department will have a lively bear by the tail if it continues its threat to force Harrison County to take federal funds it does not want.

The bear will not be little Harrison County but a huge force of public indignation against the kind of bureaucratic strong - arming of a minority fighting for a principle.

If Harrison County has no more stomach for the sugar - coated corruption of federalism made palatable by money which belonged to local government in the first place, that is its privilege.

Ohioans will not stand aside while their own state officials join forces with Washington bureaucrats to make a mockery of Harrison County's fight to run its own affairs.

This is no sudden development. For three years Harrison County officials have been fighting this battle tooth and nail — fighting Washington, fighting Columbus, fighting officials of other counties afraid of losing funds unless Harrison County fell into line.

The issue is this:

Whether or not Harrison County, with an estimated 15 totally and permanently disabled indigents who could qualify for $50 a month federal payments, would permit a branch office of the federal government to be set up to handle the handout. The county would have to pay the overhead for this office plus 20 per cent of the cost of the payments.

Harrison County's officials have turned thumbs down. They prefer to take care of disabled indigents through general relief funds.

Eisenhower Facing Test

By James Marlow

Leadership To Be Needed on 1954 Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — This next year may be the most critical one of President Eisenhower's tenure in the White House.

He has just bid for constructive world leadership with his proposal for international pooling of atomic materials. It was his response to the challenge of finding a new door to peace.

The next test challenges him to assert strong leadership with Congress and so shepherd through the kind of program he thinks the country needs at home and abroad.

The success of his administration and even history's judgment of his presidency may depend on the kind of program he offers Congress next year and what happens to it.

He will go over his 1954 program this week with the Republican leaders of Congress.

It covers a big field, including social security, taxes, changes in the Taft-Hartley Act, foreign aid, foreign trade, and whether tariffs should be raised or lowered.

For most of the 1953 congressional session Eisenhower's leadership with Congress was exercised more by proxy than directly. The proxy was the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Perhaps because Eisenhower, as he himself said, was a political novice or because he has a natural aversion to brawls or because he didn't want to get rough unless he had to, he maintained the appearance of avoiding pressure.

He repeatedly spoke of the right of the White House and Congress to a difference of views, but he soon found out that while he was being mild some of his pet plans could be strangled by Congress.

His first full realization of that possibility was provided by Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin and other members of his own party when they stood in the way of his appointment of Charles E. Bohlen as ambassador to Russia.

It was Taft who met McCarthy head on for Eisenhower and won approval of Bohlen in the Senate. With Taft doing the in-fighting, Eisenhower could afford to be mild.

But when Taft had to withdraw from Congress in the closing days of this year's session because of his fatal illness, Eisenhower found out in at least one crucial situation that he himself had to get in and punch.

This was when Rep Daniel A. Reed (R-NY), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, tried to block Eisenhower's desire to keep the excess profits tax, due to end June 30, until Dec. 31.

Reed had plenty of Republican support. Eisenhower's administration needed the money from the tax. The White House used pressure to defeat Reed.

Taft before his death picked Sen. Knowland of California to be his successor as Senate Republican leader.

But Knowland is not Taft. He's a hard worker. But he's younger and less experienced and doesn't carry Taft's weight in the Senate or among Republicans around the country.

In addition to dealing more directly with Republican senators, Eisenhower has another problem: the Democratic senators.

They may be a lot rougher on him in 1954, which is an election year, than they were in 1953, which wasn't, particularly if the Republicans rake over the past with investigations intended to make Communists-in-government under the issue in the 1954 election.

Daily Bible Thought

"The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof."—Ps. 24:1. There never has been a time when some tyrant nation has not imagined they could enslave the whole world. Grasping individuals have thought they could get gain and make no adequate return. God has defeated and rebuked them.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Indians were frequent visitors at the home of Jacob Aye, in the early 1800's. On one occasion when Mrs. Aye was in the home alone, she heard the door latch gently raised, the door opened and a large Indian came into the room. He began to talk in broken English an to make her understand more clearly, as he thought, drew a large knife from beneath his jacket. When she screamed, he turned and left. A few days later when he met her husband he explained that he had come to sell her a broom made of hickory sapling by stripping the wood in small splints and had attempted to explain how the broom was made by using his knife.

Three of a Kind

By TRUMAN TWILL

Three old - timers were joshing during lunch about what they used to want for Christmas.

Old Knuckle Head said he wanted a pair of cowboy gauntlets that would come up to his elbows, with stars on the cuffs; some high - top shoes with a strap and a brass buckle to hold them snugly in place just below the knee; a new mackinaw in a red - and - black plaid and a Flexible Flyer — the big one with accommodations for a full-length boy interested in whizzing down full-length hills.

Old High Pants said he wanted a steam engine with an upright boiler, a red flywheel, a whistle, a speed adjuster and an alcohol burner with an extra supply of alcohol in a quart bottle. He also wanted a Meccano set — the large size with an electric motor — and one of those motor wheels that kids in his day used to buy for their bikes, also a wood - burning set suitable for lining out sketches of Indian canoes on pieces of white pine.

Old Pod Belly got into the spirit of the thing and said what he wanted was his own boxful of carpenter tools, with a saw that would really take a board apart, a hammer with the right balance to it, a brace and a set of bits, an assortment of nail sets, some good chisels and all the rest of the stuff a fellow needed to do the job right.

Pod Belly said he was going to buy a set of tools like that for his grandson when the kid was old enough to appreciate good tools. He said that to this day he has no decent tools though he always has wanted them. When he was a kid, no one took him seriously and after he grew up he never could justify the money they would cost.

High Pants admitted he finally had given his own kids the steam engine no one ever gave him, and also admitted he still plays with it now and then when he is alone in the basement and no one is going to barge in on him and wonder if he had flipped his bald spot. But he never did get the Meccano set or the wood-burning outfit.

Knuckle Head said that's the way it was with him about the gauntlets, also the high - top shoes with the strap and buckle, also the mackinaw and the Flexible Flyer. He never has quit wanting them, though he realizes he wouldn't know what to do with them now if he had them. Kids don't want the same things they used to want, though he said he had no doubt that what they did want they wanted just as badly.

The funny thing about wanting these things and not getting them then or ever was that none of the three seemed to feel the cards had been stacked against him—then or ever. That wasn't the idea.

They were just reviewing some of the things they wanted and didn't get when wanting things was an all - consuming desire that could eat you up from the inside out and go right on being hungry. There were all kinds of things boys wanted — to make the team, to be smiled at by the only girl who mattered, to be praised by a certain teacher, to go to circuses, to have muscles like Charles Atlas, to have a BB gun, a rifle, a new bicycle, a pup, or a pair of long pants.

Looking back at it from the perspective lent by a large chunk of the 20th century they could agree that the best part of being alive is wanting things and that not to want anything is to start being dead.

Knuckle Head, High Pants and Pod Belly are living it up. They want a new outboard motor, a new shotgun and a chain saw, respectively — none of which they expect to get. But they can dream, can't they?

Christmas Manners Reflected by Cards

Watch out, Mr. and Mrs. and Miss America — your Christmas-card manners may soon be showing!

According to the American Artists Group people are showing greater interest than ever before in the etiquette governing the selection and sending of those self-revealing expressions of friendship.

Samuel Golden, the group's director, believes this widespread concern for good Christmas card manners is a natural result of the improved social and cultural status the Christmas card has attained since outstanding artists began originating many of the designs.

AT THE TIME the American Artists Group published its first collection, back in 1935, a great many people had abandoned the practice of sending Christmas cards — the cards available had, for many years, been so lacking in beauty, originality, or true Christmas meaning. Now — thanks in large part to artists like John Taylor Arms, Ludwig Bemelmans, Charles Burchfield, Gladys Rockmore Davis, Adolf Dehn, Lauren Ford, Hobson Pittman, John Whorf, and many noted colleages —the prestige of the Christmas card is high, and its value as a personal reflection is too important to risk an error in any detail of its proper usage.

A good first rule for making a social triumph of your Christmas card is to pick out a design that expresses your own individuality.

By issuing a larger diversity of subjects and keeping the edition of each one comparatively limited, the finer Christmas card publishers today are meeting American individuality half - way and helping to prove a more interesting and colorful "art exhibit" for the holiday mantel shelf.

GOOD ART, good taste, good spirits — and a message that is simple, dignified, and appropriate to send to anyone on your Christmast list, these are essential qualities for a holiday greeting in the best social standing.

The wording may be the ever-popular "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year," or "Season's Greetings and Best Wishes for a Happy New Year," or "With Every Good Wish for Your Happiness This Holiday Season," or a variation of any of these.

If you have your name imprinted in ink to match the printed message, it is correct to use either the formal "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith" or the informal "Mary and John Smith" (and, incidentally, the man's name may come first if you prefer, although chivalry commends the feminine precedence).

It is not correct to use the "Mr. and Mrs." form if you sign your cards by hand. Nor is it proper to use an engraved signature with a printed greeting or vice versa—printing and engraving don't mix in polite Christmas card society.

EVERYONE SEEMS to agree, Christmas belongs especially to children so children shouldn't be ignored when the Christmas cards are being sent out. It is coming to be quite the thing for children to send their own Christmas cards to their young friends, teachers, and relatives, and many charming designs in small cards suitable for juvenile use can be found in the holiday greetings published this season.

Many parents make it a practice to include the younger members of the family when signing their cards by hand. One may list the children's names in order of age (eldest first), regardless of sex—or, if preferred, simply sign the card "All the Smiths."

To bring the children of the 'receiving' family into the picture, people with the best Christmas card manners usually add to the card a special little hand-written message, mentioning the children.

LESS WARMLY personal, but also approved is the custom of simply adding the word "and family" to the parents' names when addressing the envelopes. Speaking of addressing, (it's considered courteous to place one's return address on the envelope containing a Christmas card; this helps to keep address books up to the date and makes it possible for a wrongly addressed card to be returned to the sender.

It's also definitely better form to seal the envelopes and send by first-class mail — thus showing that you place a high value both upon the card you are sending and the friendship which it symbolizes.

Since wedding bells often mingle with Christmas chimes and the ringing in of the New Year, soon-to-be-married couples sometimes are perplexed about whether to send their holiday greeting cards individualy or jointly.

This is an example of one of the etiquette problems for which the American Artists Group supplies authoritative answers in a brochure prepared this year for the use of the retail sales staffs.

IN THIS PARTICULAR instance, the right answer is the natural one: an engaged couple may send Christmas cards jointly signed if the cards are sent to friends who know them both.

Other popular querries concern the use of colored inks in signing cards by hand and addressing envelopes (any shade of ink is proper) . . . and how to handle matters when a man's Christmas card list includes business acquaintance, the name of the recipient's wife should be included only if the sender is acquainted with her also —and either his business or home address may be used, as the sender prefers.

AS A FINAL TIP in making a social success of "Operation Christmas Card" this season—take extra care that you haven't overlooked anyone who ought to be on your list.

If, in spite of all your care, you do receive a card from somebody you forgot, send one in return only if there's still time for delivery before Christmas. Otherwise, a note of thanks is recommended.

And, remember, you'll be showing your good Christmas card manners off to best advantage if you do your mailing early!

College Enrollments

By MARK DANA

The U. S. office of Education has confirmed, with voluminous figures, what college officials have been boasting all fall—namely, that college enrollments for both men and women are well over last year.

The increase seems to be a 4.8 per cent above last year at this time. Actual figures are 2,250,701 now, and 2,148,284 last fall. Actually, new students this year were up 6.5 per cent, but these are mostly freshmen and the reasons why young men and women end their college life after a year or two are varied and often justifiable.

The Federal agency reports, without comment, that theological seminary enrollment and the rosters in some other professional schools are dropping. Many church denominations have lamented this fact for several years, but the reasons these schools now have only 27,577 enrolled, as against 30,921 last fall, are not fully explained by anybody.

It might be reminded that most of the student enrollment increases are at large universities which already have student bodies larger than many towns or small cities. New York University has 38,912 for instance; Columbia has 24,870, the University of Illinois 21,164, Ohio State University 19,486.

Teachers' colleges have a 13 per cent enrollment rise this year. Medical schools and engineering schools, which try to pick only the most cerebral applicants and have waiting lists, worry little about trying to flood their classrooms. Law schools continue to get and to graduate large classes, but as a great many law-trained men and women never practice law there is no sign of a surplus of counsellors-at-law.

The small independent colleges, with few exceptions are still warmly soliciting students, merchandising the obvious advantages of a small school and assuring a well-rounded education, yet perennially concerned because the large universities can offer better facilities and the appeal (to many) of a wider range of extra-curricular activities.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Changing the Act

U. S. Information Agency is going factual, instructive and horse-sensible. It is dropping the routines of the circus press agent, the midway ballyhoo man and the high-pressure salesman.

The day of trying to win a Zulu to democracy by the latest figures on electric icebox and beach-wagon production are over. There was a long time when Uncle Sam felt that he could win a cold war with hot music, hot crooners and a hot sales talk.

Russia let him have both barrels and he counterattacked with "The Tennessee Waltz," "Cry" and "Begin the Beguine."

In support he sent in two waves of statisticians with impressive figures on ranch-house production and the semi-annual statement on toothbrush sales. For reserves he used the Hit Parade and the life story of Henry Ford.

A starving Malayan tuned in to get a ray of hope and got a recording of a TV comedian's latest gags, the baseball scores, a talk on the low cost of all-aluminum kitchens and a description of the Harvest Ball.

If somebody in Outer Mongolia got a chance to get near a radio to strengthen his morale he was urged to fight to the death for the free world because it stood for the five-hour day, eleven holidays a year, a limousine on a small down payment, and better allowances on the old car.

But let's not be too critical of former "Voice" heads. Most of us had similar ideas that we could win the world by putting top emphasis on the comforts, luxuries and soft aspects of American life.

We were slow to realize that the greater part of our unseen audience was penniless, sick, hungry and persecuted, its last desire being an electric washing machine, a telephone on both floors, swift subway service and a bag of popcorn with every movie.

It is not comforting to need a bowl of rice and get a bunch of Broadway songs, greetings from Miss America and the true story of Bob Hope's rise to riches.

The world wants facts, interpretive reporting, simple truth and straight talk free from hasenpfeffer.

It needs a picture of the free world as a generous, four-square, level-headed, substantial and reliable friend, not as a boastful, double-chinned high-pressure "Mister Big."

-:-

"The Voice" has been trying to cover too much territory in the manner of a circus barker in a terrible hurry. The situation calls for fewer activities, more wallop and less "running rapidly off in all directions" to the tune of "Buy Me That Doggie in the Window."

CHRISTMAS RECIPE

Take suit too big,
Add whiskers scanty;
Shake well and get
A department store "Santy."

When you meditate on all the automatic appliances and gadgets a wife has today you realize that the old-fashioned mother must have been the work-elephant's greatest rival.

Coffee Break: The routine your old man used to consider loafing on the job.

America has now worked itself up to a state where any man or woman denied all the luxuries feels entitled to a persecution complex.

Don't ask a child what he wants for Christmas these days. Just save time by handing him a list and asking it to check the two or three items he does NOT want.

There was this to be said for the old-fashioned Christmas card; it could always be easily identified as having something to do with the Christmas season.

Months ago the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters came out with a code which they indicated would stop the deception of the public by men who, in the white coats of doctors, commend certain medicines. But they evidently forgot to notify the actors. Just told the newspapers, as it were.

N.Y. Stereotypers Accept Wage Offer

NEW YORK (AP) — Stereotypers employed on New York City newspapers have accepted a package of $3.75 a week offered by the publishers, plus a fact-finding arrangement.

James J. McMahon, president of local 1 of the AFL International Stereotypers Union, announced acceptance was voted by a meeting of 300 of the local's membership yesterday. He said the vote was taken after he had recommended acceptance.

The package, as specified by the stereotypers, includes a weekly wage increase of $2 along with $1.75 in other benefits.

The stereotypers accepted the same formula agreed on in the strike of AFL Photo - Engravers against six major newspapers, which ended last Tuesday.

The formula calls for a $3.75 package plus non-bind fact-finding by a three-man board to determine whether additional wages or shorter hours are justified.

Bidault Opens 12th Meeting of NATO in Paris

French Minister Lauds Ike's Atomic Proposal As World Peace Hope

PARIS (AP)—French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault told the opensession of the NATO ministerial meeting today that President Eisenhower's plan for an atomic pool for peace would "divert an immese material power from a deathly destruction toward the peaceful progress of mankind."

Bidault, chairman of the meeting, declared to the nearly 50 foreign, defense and finance ministers from the 14 North Atlantic nations that a positive Soviet reply to the Eisenhower proposal would bring "incalculable political consequences." He added:

"Never before would disarmament convey so many promises of a happy life."

The ministers crowded into the huge conference room of the Palais de Chaillot overlooking the Seine River for their 12th meeting on building up the defense of Western Europe.

Later today U. S. Secretary of State Dulles was expected to tell them they must press on with their rearmament program no matter what they hope will come out of the Big Four's projected Berlin conference.

In his address today, Dulles was due to emphasize:

1. That the Russian threat is still very great to the Democratic way of life in France and the other NATO nations.

2. That the European army treaty must be ratified and the one - uniform, six-nation force brought into being.

3. That the 12 German divisions to be raised for the army are not the only important feature of the pact; that equally important is the impetus it will give to the integration of Western Europe commercially and socially as well as militarily—to raise living standards and counter Moscow's blandishments.

Dulles To Urge Action

But Dulles also was reported planning to tell the French unless the European Defense Community EDC Treaty is ratified by next spring, he can't promise how much money Congress will be willing to appropriate for European defense bills.

"If we could feel sure the French would ratify EDC by May 1, I would relax," said one important American official. "If it drags on later than that, I don't know what Congress might do."

Bidault was expected to ask that the North Atlantic Treaty be extended to 50 years from its present limit of 20 years. That would make its binding ties on America last as long as the EDC Treaty binding Germany and France together—and provide an additional obligation on the United States to protect France against any future German invasion.

American sentiment here seemed to indicate a willingness to go along with such a French proposal.

Bidault's speech at the opening session—the only one to which the press and public will be admitted — was simultaneously translated into English.

He said an agreement on President Eisenhower's atomic proposal would make it possible. "in spite of evil memories, to establish cooperation and even an association in a field where lie the greatest prospects for progress and also the most powerful means of annihilation.'

Bidault also said Big Four talks with Russia are "in sight" and added: "We shall see what it may bring."

Bidault called on the ministers "to conduct with vigor the work of the Atlantic community and in particular to ensure that each member effectively translates into facts the annual recommendations made to it"

DUCKS HUNTERS. This 7-month-old deer has the run of the Mrs. Beatrice Lewis household during deer hunting season in Maryland. The family sheltered the animal shortly after it was born. It has romped in the nearby woods at North East, Md., but right now the Lewis family is keping the deer inside so it won't become hunters' game. Carolyn Lewis, 7, shown above, gets along nicely with the pet. He sleeps in the kitchen, eats beef stew, hot dogs and pickles.

Traffic Jam Illustrates Advantage of Air Travel

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The advantages of air travel over ground transportation were strikingly illustrated during open-house ceremonies at this city's new 15-million -dollar International Airport terminal building yesterday.

An estimated 400,000 persons who turned out to see the building created one of the worst highway traffic jams in the city's history. At one time traffic creeped bumper to bumper as far south as Wilmington, Del.

First Gas Turbine Auto Made in U.S. Readied for Show

DETROIT (AP)—The first American-made passenger automobile powered with a gas turbine engine probably will be shown in New York next month.

But it will be strictly an experimental model. No car maker yet has licked all the engineering problems involved in adapting a gas turbine engine to a convenfional type passenger car.

Informed engineering sources say such a car is being readied for display at General Motors' Motorama at New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Jan. 21-26. General Motors' high command has not confirmed this but its research staff is known to have been working on a gas turbine vehicle for many months.

It is now fairly well understood that Charles L. McCuen, GM's research director was trying out a gas turbine car when he was injured seriously at the General Motors proving grounds a couple of months ago. He is reported almost fully recovered from the brain concussion he sufered when the car struck a barrier near the high speed lane at the proving grounds.

'You Never Had It So Good'

Democrats Dust Off '52 Campaign Theme for '54

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Democrats under the lead of Adlai E. Stevenson are dusting off for use in 1954 a 1952 campaign theme that the country "never had it so good' as when they were in power.

Climbing living costs, economic issues and fear of depression got a heavy accenting over the weekend at a rally of Democrats from 11 Atlantic Coast states and the District of Columbia.

'Quit Raking Up Past'

So did the question of subversion and Soviet espionage in government, with Stevenson putting in an appeal to the country to quit raking over ashes of the past and get on with combatting the international Communist conspiracy and the problems of today and tomorrow.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) replied to Stevenson's appeal last night by asserting Stevenson had long shown "an especial fondness toward the Communist philosophy."

McCarthy said Stevenson has been repeating "like a broken record" the idea Americans should fight Communists without getting rough with them.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee laid heavy emphasis on fear of depression while voicing confidence that "we Americans have a reasonable chance of mastering our economic destiny." He credited his own party with having erected sound defenses against economic disaster and said the Republicans can use them now even though they once called them "socialistic."

Big Gun at Meeting

The former Illinois governor was the big oratorical gun at the Democratic rally and a fund-raising dinner Saturday night aimed at sweetening the financial kitty and building up spirit for the 1954 campaign

Democrats from Maine to Maryland were saying here that party prospects definitely are on the upgrade Stevenson himself said that, measured by recent election results, "our party's fortunes have suddenly improved."

To upwards of 1,300 Democratic partisans assembled at the $100-a-a-plate dinner, Stevenson said that the Four Freedoms the late President Roosevelt laid down in 1941 as guiding principles for America and the world have been supplanted by the "Four Fears."

Freedom of speech and of worship, freedom from want and fear, he said, have been replaced by "fear of depression, fear of communism, fear of ourselves, fear of freedom itself."

"Those gallant hopes of yesterday," he said, "have given way to the sorry confusion of today."

He questioned whether President Eisenhower can speak as the voice of authority for his own administration.

While Eisenhower speaks of unity, he said, presidential colleagues show disunity.

"While he calls for calm," he said, "his friends light the fires of hysteria. While he invokes the American tradition that the accused has the right to be confronted by his accuser, members of his administration and his party, try, condemn and convict in a single action of the hand.

"I only wish President Eisenhower could speak for the Eisenhower administration.'

Rips Brownell

Jumping on Atty. Gen. Brownell, Stevenson said he has "even imputed disloyalty or Communist sympathy" to former President Truman.

Truman's vice president, Alben W. Barkley, raw-hided Brownell, too.

"We have an attorney general," he said, 'whose chief qualifications seem to lie not in his skill as a lawyer but in his ambidextrous, nocturnal invasions of the sepulchers of the dead.'

Mention of Brownell brought hisses from the crowd.

Barkley drew a bead on the attorney general for his Nov. 8 charge that Truman in 1946 promoted Harry Dexter White, now dead, from a high Treasury department office to the International Monetary Fund in disregard of FBI reports Brownell said identified White as a Soviet espionage agent.

Truman replied that he kept White in the government so the FBI could keep tab on him and other suspects.

STEVENSON RAPS GOP AT JACKSON DINNER. Adlai Stevenson (center), talks with top Democrats before addressing the Democratic party's annual JacksonJefferson Day dinner in Philadelphia. Stevenson charged that Republicans, contrary to the wishes of President Eisenhower, have replaced the four freedoms with the four fears. With the former Illinois governor are (left to right): Mayor elect Robert F. Wagner, N. Y. City; Governor elect Robert F. Meyner, N. J.; Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell and former Vice President Alben Barkley.

Cleanup Not Complete

Sen. McCarthy Differs With Brownell on Reds

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell says he thinks all suspected Reds have been cleaned out of the government. But Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) disagrees.

Brownell said in a transcribed Texas radio speech last night he believes all federal employes suspected of Communist tendencies have been dismissed.

"We think that they are all out of government now," he said on the state Republican committee's weekly program, "Report to Texas."

"But the President has promised that within the coming year we will have completed the employe security program so that the people can be sure that none of them are left in government.

"And those that are outside, we are going to go after them separately," the attorney general declared.

McCarthy, Communist - hunting chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee, said on the "Meet the Press" television program (NBC) last night more employes are being fired on loyalty grounds every day.

The administration "is heading in the right direction" in eliminating subversives from government, but "I don't think the job is ended," McCarthy said.

Brownell said "one of the first things that President Eisenhower did when he came into office was to set up an employe security program."

"And I am glad to say when the first report came out about a month ago, it showed that 1,456 security risks have been fired from the government since Eisenhower took office."

Brownell said he "brought out those facts" on the Harry Dexter White case because "the people of this country are entitled to know what goes on in their government."

GOP National Committeeman H. J. (Jack) Porter of Houston asked whether Brownell's department would "continue to expose other cases."

Brownell replied:

"I think we will have to because how are we ever going to know . . . how to deal in the future with this international conspiracy . . . to overthrow our government by force and violence? How are we ever going to know how to deal with that unless we find out the mistakes that were made in the past so that we can profit by them?"

The interview was transcribed during Brownell's visit to Texas last week.

Text of Letter From Red GI To His Mother

TOKYO (AP)—This is the text of the letter received today by Mrs. Portia Howe from her son Pfc. Richard R. Tenneson, one of the American POWs who has refused repatriation:

"Dear mother:

"Received your wire today and was very glad to get it. You say you would like to talk with me—well that would not be too hard to do. I know you believe me when I say that I would like to talk to you, however, there really isn't too much you could accomplish by it.

"I know that you want to take me home with you but I have made up my mind and I am not going.

"During my life I have witnessed both peace and war in the United States. I love peace, I love mankind, I love them enough to fight for them—that is what I am doing right now—that is why I am not going home. Don't misunderstand me. I still love my family, my people and my country, and whether you are able to understand it now or not, believe me when I say that it is for them that I am fighting and it is impossible for me to live in the United States because I want to live as I wish.

"Actually though I don't believe the United States authorities will allow you to speak to me, they are afraid. They have probably told you that I was forced, doped, brain washed or some other horse manure that they use to slander and defile people like myself who will stand up for his own rights and the rights of man.

"What would they have to say if they did allow you to talk to me and you were to see me that I was still your son if ever I left you with the exception perhaps that now I have a goal and a reason in life.

"Also as soon as you read this you had better go over to GHQ and take a loyalty oath or you are liable to be arraigned before the House of Unamerican Activities (sic). It would be very nice for Eb (Mrs. Howe's husband, E. K. Howe) if he was tailed by Gestapo FBI every time he went out to deliver chickens.

"Perhaps you would like to know what we do here in the camp in the Democratic People's Republic of Korea. Well, we have a lot of fun—we have outdoor sports, indoor sports, folk dancing, cultural concerts and now we have rice fields within the camp flooded over and as soon as they freeze up we will be having skating parties and tournaments.

"We have two strands of barbed wire around the place, the first barbed wire I have seen since I left camp Drake in Japan. On a clear day we can look over the valley and see the camp on the other side—large guard towers, search light and so forth—looks more like a state penitentiary than a place for men to live while they decide what they are going to do with their life.

"Oh, by the way, one of my friends who is also staying back, Claude Bachelor, asked me to ask you if you would go and see his wife—her name is Kiyoko Araki and she lives at 412 Kitasenzoku-Cho, Tokyo, you can get there by taxi. He also asked that you ask her to come over here to see him or write him a letter.

"Say hello to the family if you are not allowed to come and see me.

(signed) "Rich."

ACCUSES FOUNDATION

NEW YORK (AP)—A state senator charged today the National Kids Day Foundation, which solicited funds over the names of Bing Crosby and Mrs. Bob Hope, raised $2,931,000 last year but spent only 10 per cent for charity.

Red GI

"They are afraid," Tenneson wrote. "They have probably told you I was framed, doped, brainwashed or some other horse manure that they use to slander and defile people like myself who will stand up for his own rights and rights of man.'

Mrs. Howe said she was prepared for the shock after the 22 Americans refused to attend explanations yesterday.

"It was perfectly obvious to me it was going to be a negative reply—if there was to be a reply at all. I was not surprised."

Asked if she thought the letter was a true expression of Richard's feelings, she said:

Beyond Comprehension

"I think he thinks it represents his true feelings.

"This terrible thing has happened to him in a prison camp under what conditions I don't know, and under circumstances I do not understand.

"But I think the Communists are capable of doing the same thing under other conditions. If they can destroy the home, they can disintegrate the nation."

Analyzing her son's letter, she read a passage from it—

"During life I have witnessed both peace and war in the United States. I love peace. I love mankind. I love them enough to fight for them. That is what I am doing right now—that is why I am not going home."

She gestured to the letter—

"Why, he was only 17!"

"What does he know of life, and life in the United States?

"He was in combat seven weeks. What does he know of war?

"The whole argument falls apart.'

In another passage, he wrote, "It is impossible for me to live in the United States because I want to live as I wish."

The mother commented, 'I wouldn't have any idea what he meant about 'impossible.'

Feels Blame

"I have failed somewhere and I must find out where, because I have three other children and I must not make the same mistake.

"I believe a mother should start at birth trying to train a child for life. Perhaps I overdid it. Richard resented discipline. Perhaps that is where I made my mistake.'

Asked if she still wanted to see her son, she almost broke down.

"Of course I want to see my son—of course I still want to see him!"

She will stay in Tokyo for awhile.

Fire

Later the children were taken to the Hook home for safe-keeping. Skivers was also taken there after he was overcome in his futile attempt to save the little girl.

Visiting Parents

At the time the fire started, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were visiting at his parents Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Robinson at 419 Waterloo St. and had not been gone from home more than half an hour, they said today.

As they were talking to the grandparents, a neighbor, Richard Dinger of 425 Waterloo St. heard fire sirens and the reflection of a fire in the vicinity of Lindberg Ave. He walked over to Robinson's father's home and when he saw Mr. and Mrs. Robinson told them there was a fire in their section of town.

Fearing the worst, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson quickly got into their car and drove toward their home. By the time they arrived, the flames had nearly engulfed the house and firemen were pouring water onto the house.

Later, when the fire was nearly out, firemen found the body of the little girl lying in the corner of the living room near where a window had been knocked out by one of the neighbors in the hope of entering the house to save the little girl.

The fire call was answered by firemen from the Central and W. Center St. stations who found it necessary to lay nearly a quarter mile of hose to the scene from the nearest fire hydrant. They fought the fire for one hour and 45 minutes before extinguishing it and remained on the scene another half-hour making certain the fire was completely out.

Go Back for Dogs?

Why Joyce suddenly ran back in the house is not known but the parents said it may have been to save two pet dogs, "Mickey" and "Freckles," trapped inside or because she thought her mother was inside. Both dogs apparently perished in the fire also, the parents said today.

What caused the stove to explode is not known. Mrs. Robinson said today that the oven was lighted and that she had placed a roast in it to cook before she and her husband left to go to his parents home. They intended to return home in a short time, she said.

Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson had lived in the house for about seven months. The loss to the house and contents is mostly covered by insurance, they said.

Mr. Robinson is employed at Carl's Plumbing and Heating. They and the surviving children plan to live with the grandparents pending other arrangements.

Earlier in the evening, another piece of bad luck hit at Mr. and Mrs. Robinson in the form of an automobile accident.

Mrs. Robinson was driving and backed into a panel truck parked across the street from the Fountain Inn on Fountain St. The accident happened at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Owner of the truck was Harold Dains of 210 N. Seffner Ave. The left door of the truck was damaged by the impact. No damage was reported to the car.

Born in 1950

Joyce Elaine Robinson was born Feb. 25, 1950, in Marion, a daughter of John David Robinson and Ella Mae Snow Robinson, both natives of Marion.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Boyd Funeral Home on W. Columbia St. by Rev. Walter J. Yoh, pastor of the First Pilgrim Holiness Church. Burial will be made in Marion Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 8 tonight.

City firemen were called out five other times over the weekend, twice on inhalator calls and three times to other small loss fires.

At 12:15 p.m. yesterday inhalator crewmen were called to the residence of Mrs. Evelyn Tyler of 1014 N. State St. when she suffered a stroke. They used the inhalator on her for 25 minutes successfully after which she was taken to City Hospital in a Hughes ambulance.

The other inhalator call was at 3:11 a.m. Sunday to the residence of William Morrison, 67, of 764 Bennett St. Crewmen reported he had suffered a light heart attack but had recovered when they arrived and the inhalator was not used.

Central station firemen were called to the residence of Harold Rorick at 521 W. Columbia St. at 3:06 a.m. Sunday. Firemen reported there was abroken gas line in the bathroom which had filled the house with fumes. They shut off the gas valve and reported no loss.

At 7:26 p.m. Saturday W. Center St. and Central station firemen were called to the residence of Virgil Cfego of 210 Edwards St. A board placed over the top of a floor furnace caught fire from the heat and was burned slightly, firemen said. Only small loss was reported.

The other fire run was at 5:15 p.m. Saturday to the home of Gerald Roberts at 147 S. Vine St. where newspapers stacked on top of a furnace caught fire. There was only slight smoke damage. Central station firemen answered the call.

The otter, at one time an important fur-bearing animal in Nebraska, is now extinct in the Cornhusker state.

Surviving is a stepson, James Cleveland of 228 Bellevue Ave., his step-mother, Viola Minor of McGuffey, a half-sister, Miss Connie Minor of Lima, one sister, Mrs. Mozelle Stewart of Cedarville, and two brothers, Clarence Minor of Dinsmore, Fla., and Don Minor of Columbus.

The bodies of the victims of the crash were taken to the Wals Walker Funeral Home in Continental. Those of Mr. and Mrs. Schwartzenberger were returned to Edgerton, and that of Minor was brought to the Merle H. Eughes Mortuary in Marion. Funeral services for Minor are incomplete.

City,County Health Unit Attends Area Meet at Delaware

Dr. J. T. Gruber of the Marion City Health Department and Ralph H. Augenstein, sanitarian of the Marion County Health Department, attended a two-day meeting Friday and Saturday in Delaware at the central district office of the Department of Health.

Attending the Friday sessions also were Dr. Bret Hurd, county health commissioner, and H. Clay Smith, president of the county health board.

Health commissioners, sanitarians and sanitary engineers from the district, which is comprised of 14 counties, attended the meetings which were held for discussion of the new state-wide food service operations inspections. This duty has been transferred from the state fire marshal's office to the local boards of health.

Among the topics of discussion were regulations governing food service operations, providing uniform sanitation standards, and plans, equipment and supplies.

In the local area, the city health department will have charge of all food service operations in the city of Marion, and the county health department will have charge of all food service operations in the county.

The new program begins the first of the year.

give no details immediately on terms. He said, however, it is expected that membership meetings will be called within 38 hours.

Company-union negotiations had been virtually continuous since Friday night, except for meals and a little sleep. The long sessions followed return here of Jack Livingston, UAW vice president and director of its aircraft department, from conferences in Detroit and Washington.

Federal Mediator John L. Fenton arranged the joint sessions after weeks of periodic talks separately with both parties.

Fenton said he was not at liberty to give terms of the agreement, pending union membership action, but he could say it is a master agreement for all three plants.

The Columbus local of the union called a membership meeting for 1 a.m. EST tomorrow, presumably to vote on the agreement.

A company spokesman said the agreement includes six paid holidays, three weeks paid vacations for 15-year employes, group insurance, maintenance of union membership and other benefits.

The North American strike affected production of the famed F86 Sabre jet plane and of the new F100 Super Sabre.

Soviet Church

By George Sokolsky

If the atom bomb were the only impediment to peace, the various proposals to limit atomic and hydronuclear warfare would solve all our problems. The depositing of such material, as the President proposes, with the United Nations would end the contest between the United States and Soviet Russia and the world would again be restored to the pleasant conditions that my generation experienced before 1912.

SOKOLSKY

It would be wonderful and a blessing to our children and grandchildren. Perhaps I shall be regarded as a reactionary for suffering a prewar nostalgia; yet the fact remains that since World War I, the Western civiliaztion, as Arnold Toynbee describes it, has steadily disintegrated until now it has, in too many aspects, lost its power of resistance to the challenge of the Soviet Church, which is engaged in the development of a universal state.

—:—

THIS, AND not the atom bomb, is our problem. The world has always been conquered by ideas and ideals and the will to resist external aggression and infiltration, and not by the use of a particicular weapon. Whenever a new church has developed in history, an idealistic power is generated which produces martyrs and that attracts youth to itself from the population of the disintegrating civilization.

This is the problem of our age. It is not dissimilar to other periods when a new church entered upon an era of conversion, of propaganda of the faith, of forcing adherence and even of war for universal conquest.

Volume V of Toynbee's "A Study of History" deals with this type of human experience, of which there have been many examples. The Soviet Church is expanding into a universal state which now comprises 800,000,000 people, with several hundred million outside its orbit who are affiliated by fear of eventual conquest. Its objective must be the entire world or it can have no objective.

NO SUCH movement ever fully succeeded. No really universal state has ever been established. No single government has ever encompassed the entire human race. No church has ever held the whole of mankind. Such movements reach an apogee and then break up by the disintegrating p ocesse sthat are inevitable with apparent success.

Nevertheless, while the effort is in the early proslytizing stages, it produces untold misery for the rest of mankind. It is in this stage that the Soviet Church is now; It is an expanding empire which is moving toward a universal state.

In consideration of these forces, the role of the politician, heading a country, is different from that of the philosophic historian. The politician must face immediate problems which arise today and need to be settled today. Often his fears are the reflex of personal as well as political problems.

THE DISINTEGRATION of his civilization may hurl him into oblivion as the Bolshevik Revolution so hurded Nicholas II and Alexander Kerensky (1917-18). The politician seeks not only to safeguard his country but to preserve himself as Chiang Kai-shek did when, instead of taking refuge in the United States or Switzerland, he settled on Formosa. The politician therefore seeks compromises and appeasements to postpone such a test of strength as Charles Martel risked at Tours against the Moslems (732), who otherwise might have expanded their church throughout Western Europe.

But the test of strength must come because a universal state will expand until it is literally stopped, that is, by war, or until it disintegrates through the degenerating factors of success, while it is true that that is why no such state has ever encompassed the whole of mankind, it is also true that centuries of troubled times may keep mankind on tenterhooks until the pressures are released.

I REPEAT: this is our problem. To assume that it will be solved by turning the atom bomb over to the United Nations is to fail to grasp the historic meaning of such a development. It is like playing with toys while great forces are at work.

Just think out this one fact for yourself: atom bomb or no atom bomb, the Soviet Church, as distinct from Russia, has grown from 180,000,000 to 800,000,000 human beings and is continuing to grow. I wonder if any of the Three Wise Men in Bermuda measured that fact in historic terms. Unless they are capable of such breadth of view, their decisions may not fit the requirements for arresting the advance of the Soviet Universal State.

John L. Plans

By Victor Riesel

Even as Dwight D. Eisenhower spoke at the United Nations on East 42nd St. in New York, the man who soon will rip Ike's eyes off the foreign front sat in Room 1101 of the Hotel Barclay on East 48th St. And he was planning strategy which the President will discover is as formidable as any he has faced on any front.

RIESEL

For the man in that hotel room, in and out of which he had spent a week, was the master maneuverer of them all—John Llewellyn Lewis. Though some of his callers were from areas far removed indeed from the mine patches, there can be little doubt that the now white-maned, 75-year-old coal diggers' chief was thinking and talking of a coal strike some time next year—in late spring or early summer.

President Eisenhower will need all his tactical genius to handle it. John L. knows that around about that time 1,000,000 railroad yard and maintenance workers may strike and halt the trains. John L. knows that just about that time too, strikes may be ripping through our gargantan aircraft plants.

OLD KING COAL knows that about that time, May 1, 1954, David McDonald's hard hitting CIO United Steelworkers of America will serve 60-day notice of the expiration of the basic steel contract covering 600,000 mill hands employed by the blue chip companies.

John L. knows this because he has been talking regularly with David McDonald. As recently as two weeks ago the leader of the nation's miners and the new chief of the nation's steelworkers met quietly in Washington's Hotel Carlton. It is an informed guess to report that they talked of joint strategy in their campaigns against the steel and coal industry. Already McDonald has displayed his old United Mine Workers training (picked up as assistant to Phil Murray in the Thirties), by dividing the opposition.

McDonald and U. S. Steel have become close. And Lewis has talked approvingly of this tactic, for it leaves the rest of the steel industry without the powerful support of U. S. Steel.

—:—

JOHN L. ALSO is aware that these spring and summer months will see CIO Auto Union chief Walter Reuther step up his campaign against the giant auto corporations, for those basic contracts will then have less than a year to run.

And just at the time the industrial front will be flaring with the political and propaganda barrages laid down against the White House and big business, the Congressional campaign will explode, too.

And John L., scientist in precision timing and specialist in warring on the nerves of presidents since Calvin Coolidge, will move then. Swiftly. According to Lewis' present plans, always more subject to change than the weather, the miners' chief will serve—on March 1—60-day notice of expiration of the nation's coal contracts.

This will give him the right to shut down the coal fields across the land by May 1—just as President Eisenhower is hit by labor from all sides. This will be the President's first major labor crisis. Lewis knows that only by taking advantage of the cover offered by these barrages can he win anything for his coaldiggers this time.

THE COAL INDUSTRY is in trouble. For the first time since Lewis became a regular late-at-night visitor at Franklin Roosevelt's place at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. a strong section of the nation's coal production is non-unon. Some experts put this non-union production at 30 per cent of the total. Scores of union mines are closing in the south—one figure places this at 103 pits, employing 14,000 diggers in West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky.

By striking just before the other major unions hit their employers for bigger pensions, longer vacations and still higher pay, Lewis will seem to be leading the proletarian parade. Actually, with the warmer weather hardly nibbling into the coal stockpile, his people will find themselves on a two or three-day-a-week schedule anyway.

SO THE TIME will be most opportune for him. For whatever steel wins, he will pick up too. And with the coal fields paralyzed, Lewis will be strengthening the hand of David McDonald's steel union.

President Eisenhower will really be on the spot. The President will not be able to ignore such industrial unrest. To keep the nation from uproarious months just before the crucial 1954 Congressional election, Mr. Eisenhower will have to step in. If he should try to smash these strikes, which he would not do, he'd lose millions of votes for the Republican party.

If he merely mediates, he will, in effect, be helping the unions. To John L. this is an old game. Ike won't find it quite as sporting.

The Passing Year

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The seers and sages already are weighing a vanishing year, as 1953 becomes just another cobblestone on the long road of time.

What kind of year has it been? How will it be remembered?

The historians will say it was a dark doubts unresolved, of titanic decisions postponed.

The economists will say the nation's pocketbook stood the strain well, but will warn business could take a turn for the worse or, on the other hand, for the better.

The medical spokesmen will say the health of America was never higher, even though more people complained of a tired, rundown feeling.

Half the politicians (Democrats) will view with alarm what wasn't accomplished in 1953; half the politicians (Republicans) will point with pride.

But not even the Communists will claim they have a solution to the greatest problem of the working man under U.S. capitalism, which is, "Where can I find a place to park my car?"

Each pundit will look at the diminishing year from his own viewpoint. And, as did the blind men who felt different parts of the same elephant then described it variously as like unto a wall, a tree, or a snake, each will give his own verdict.

None will make much sense to the average man. He will remember 1953, not for its world-shaking events, but for something memorable that happened to him—trivial or important.

We look at a single year only through the perspective of our own lives, the impact it made in some way upon us individually, not the final place it will have in the long story of the human race.

Who will remember, a decade from now, that Premier Mossadegh found a new reason to cry in 1953? Who will remember that it was this year or another year that Russia announced it had a hydrogen bomb, and Josef Stalin passed into a beyond in which he held no belief?

Who even will remember 1953 as a whole year anyway? You can't remember 365 days. You remember fragments of time ... one moment of emotion ... a day you made a decision that changed your life, such as putting on long pants for the first time ... a week in a hospital ... a honeymoon month.

To one man 1953 will be the year he finished paying the mortgage on his house, and four hours later the roof fell in. To a small boy it may be the time his dad took him to see a world series baseball game. To a college student 1953 may be nothing all his life but the tear-streaked face of a girl, crying in the moonlight because she wouldn't marry him.

A housewife may recall this year for the last visit her mother paid the family, hiding a mortal illness throughout her stay because she was a mother who wanted a glad goodby. Or a fellow might remember it for the look in the eyes of an old-timer at the office, retiring after 35 years, to—what?

No matter what scholars write in the books about 1953 it won't be what is engraved in the average man's memories. No scholar can know what is written in the calendar of the human heart, for each heart has its private pages, and no life is really ever an open book.

But most people, toting up the hurts and happiness of 1953, probably would agree that as years go—and my, how they do seem to go lately!—it went pretty profitably and reasonably peacefully.

We must remember that we are a generation that lives, after all, with its fingers crossed.

British railways carry three million passengers a day.

North Electric Firm At Galion Will Start Construction Plans

Special to The Star

GALION—Ground will be broken some time this month at the corner of Market and Parson Streets for the new administration and office building of the North Electric Manufacturing Co.

Contract for construction of the three-story 80 x 180 foot brick and Indiana limestone structure was let last week to the Crawford Construction Co. Cost of the building is estimated at $500,000. It will be erected adjacent to the company's main plant on S. Market St.

Construction of the new building, which will be air conditioned, is part of the expansion program of the company, it was announced by the president, G. A. Berting. The company has plants at Mt. Gilead, Upper Sandusky, and Kenton, with the main plant, laboratories, and general administrative offices located in Galion. There are warehouses in Georgia, Texas, Minnesota and Ohio. Expansion during the past year has included two new wings for the Galion plant and one at the Kenton plant.

The company supplies virtually all types of modern telephonic equipment, automatic industrial control products ranging from elevator call systems, fire alarm control units, airport lighting systems and intricate electronic control mechanisms to large control panel switching equipment used in conjunction with hydro-electric power generating plants. The company recently affiliated with the L. M. Ericsson Telephone Manufacturing Co. of Stockholm, Sweden, which has enlarged its international market.

Kefauver Asks Probe Of GM Tank Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) has asked for an investigation of a contract he says provides for exclusive production by General Motors Corp. of M48 tanks for the Army.

The senator Saturday disclosed he had asked Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) of the Senate Armed Services Committee to order hearings on the 20 million dollar contract.

Kefauver said in a statement he feared having only one supplier of the tanks would lead to loss by other producers of "skilled technicians and know-how." He contended the action might be a dangerous departure from "the principle of maintaining a very broad production base."

Columbus Girl, 10, Dies Despite Prisoners Help

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Despite 10 skin grafts donated by inmates of Ohio Penitentiary, a 10-year-old Columbus girl died last night of burns suffered three months ago.

The victim was Mary Ann Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw. She was burned Sept. 17 when her clothing was ignited by a trash fire.

1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon baking powder
⅛ teaspoon soda
1 cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
1 cup chopped nutmeats

Beat butter until creamy; add sugar gradually and beat well. Beat in egg and vanilla. Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and soda into creamed mixture and mix thoroughly. Blend in rolled oats and nut meats.

Drop by teaspoons into small well-greased muffin cups. Bake in a moderate oven (375 F.) for 15 to 18 minutes. Loosen edges with a sharp knife and remove from pans immediately by inverting on a wire rack. Cool. Turn right side up and pipe edges with Butter Cream Forsting; sprinkle with colored sugar.

Butter Cream Frosting: Mix together 2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine, 1½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar, 2 tablespoons milk and ¼ teaspoon vanilla until smooth. Makes 4½ dozen cookies.

Attorneys Endorse Judge Rutherford At Morrow County

MT. GILEAD — Morrow County Common Pleas Judge Leland Rutherford, candidate for the unexpired term of the late Judge Edward Matthias on the Ohio Supreme Court, was unanimously endorsed for that office by members of the Morrow County Bar association at a recent luncheon meeting.

Nominations for the office will be made in the May primaries. The term ends Dec. 31, 1956. Judge Rutherford, Rebpulican, will soon begin his tenth year as Common Pleas Judge. His term does not expire until 1956.

William Joncox, president of the Bar Association, gave a report on a meeting of Ohio Bar Association officers in Columbus Sunday. Gale Weller, secretary, pointed out the inconvenience of having an attorney serve as head of the law library with offices outside of the Cousehouse. On his suggestion, the Judge of the Court of Common Pleas was designated as secretary-treasurer of the Law Library Association.

Girl, 13, Who Swallowed Watch To Quit Hospital

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Edna Stewart, the 13-year-old girl who swallowed her wrist watch, probably will be able to leave the hospital in a day or two—and without an operation.

Hospital attaches said nature was expected to take care of the situation.

Edna was lying on her bed, talking with her mother, when the accident happened Saturday. Her hands were over her head and she was trying to take off the small watch.

It suddenly slipped off, fell in her mouth and—gulp—down her throat it went.

Mt. Gilead To Buy 115 Parking Meters

MT. GILEAD — Mt. Gilead village council passed an ordinance this week for the purchase or rental of 115 parking meters for use by the village and authoried the clerk to advertise for bids, after specifications are filed.

The council also authorized the purchase of a black two-door police cruiser from the Ault Motor Sales, Chevrolet dealers here. The cruiser will be white above the belt molding and will be equipped with spotlight and turn lights.

Members authorized transfer of $25,000 from the waterworks inactive fund to the active fund. Appearing before council were Frank Spencer, local business man, who wished to go on record as against the installation of parking meters, Warren McClelland, who asked for improvement of Maple Court circling off of Cedar Street, and Richard Poffenbaugh.

Poffenbaugh, instructor in the Mt. Gilead school presented an analysis of traffic and parking problems in Mt. Gilead. The report was the result of an investigation by a Parent-Teachers Association committee and the driving class at the school.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark.

British Rail Workers Pose Strike Threat

400,000 Set Walkout For Dec. 20; Increased Wages Issue at Stake

LONDON (AP)—Santa Claus was a key issue today in Britain's biggest strike threat since the general strike of 1926.

The National Union of Railwaymen (NUR) has called on its 400,000 members to strike next Sunday at midnight.

A strike on the state-owned railways would paralyze a nation looking forward to its gayest Christmas since before the war—with plenty of food and drink and unrationed goods.

The immediate issue is whether the railwaymen are entitled to a pay raise of 56 cents or $3.60 a week.

But Santa Claus was quickly injected into the dispute.

"Railway scrooges," shouted The People, Labor party mouthpiece, in a front-page headline denouncing union leaders for calling the strike on the holiday week.

"You'd almost think the leaders of the NUR had no children of their own and never believed in Santa Claus," said the Sunday newspaper.

"At any rate they are going the right way to stop youngsters from having a happy Christmas by taking a train trip to meet the old man in white whiskers at the big stores . . . Shame on them."

The Sunday Pictorial, which calls itself a newspaper of the left-wing viewpoint, cried out in big black headlines: "Cabinet Must Stop Christmas Rail Strike."

Calling upon the government to move in immediately to settle the dispute, the pictorial declared:

"Forget for the moment whether the railwaymen's pay claims are justified or not. Forget whether they are right or wrong to threaten strike action at such short notice at this time.

"The first step must be to prevent this calamity happening at all.'

Interjection of Santa Claus into the dispute brought this sharp retort from an NUR organizer at a meeting of union members:

"You are not to feel ashamed of yourselves when people say of the strike you are spoiling the kiddies' Christmas. There will be little or no Christmas festivities in the homes of railwaymen on the wages they are getting'

The British Transport Commission was called into emergency session today to consider ways of heading off the walkout. Its chairman, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, was reported ready to ask for government intervention if the union refuses to compromise

The last time labor trouble shut down Britain's rail lines was during the great general strike.

The unions are demanding a 15 per cent hike in wages which now average $24.07 — 8 pounds 11 shillings 11 pence—a week. The Railway Staff National Tribunal, whose rulings always have been accepted in the past, awarded a weekly increase of only 4 shillings, 56 cents.

SAFE FROM SAFE. Apparently more alarmed by flash bulbs than by his 1½ hours in a locked safe is Danny Stanley, 2, as he holds tight to his mother's neck after rescue at Nashville, Tenn. The mother is Mrs. Joe Stanley, whose family lives in a former office equipped with a walk-in safe. Danny walked in and locked the door after him and safe experts drilled the lock to open it.

The former Chicago nursing student and nine other leaders of the leftist People's Progressive party (PPP) were taken into police custody yesterday at a town 15 miles from Georgetown. They were later released after posting bonds of $75 ($44.50 U. S.) each.

The police said they were using a loudspeaker to address a gathering of 300 people in defiance of a ban against public meetings without police permision.

Stores Pleased With Program

Distributive Education Course Lauded

By BILL TERRY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If the clerk who waits on you when you're doing your Christmas shopping looks like a high school girl, she probably is.

But don't jump to the conclusion she's inexperienced at waiting on customers, because she's probably as well trained as the veteran clerk.

That's because of the distributive education classes in high schools throughout the state for both high school students and adults. Local merchants cooperate in sponsoring the classes that give retail, wholesale and service business training.

This year several thousand high school students and adults took short courses that prepared them for Christmas season work.

"The work-earn-learn theory of education is good all through the year but it is especially valuable as a cooperative effort during the holiday season when the stores need sales people," says Dr. Clyde Hissong, state director of education.

The students learn in their classrooms and use local stores as "laboratories" to test their classroom teaching.

"The stores are delighted with the program," says Miss Marguerite Loos, state supervisor of vocational distributive education. She cited Youngstown as an example, saying that of the 569 students taking this type of vocational education 260 enrolled in a course called "Jingle Bells Christmas Selling Class."

She said successful classes for beginners in distributive education have been held in Akron, Ashland, Ashtabula, Barberton, Bellaire, Bellevue, Bryan, Canton, East Akron, Elyria, Fostoria, Fremont, Marion, Massillon, Napoleon, Newark, Norwalk, Norwood, Sandusky, Steubenville, Toledo and Zanesville

During the 1952-53 school year a total of 6,540 Ohio high school students and adults was enrolled in distributive education.

"The customer profits from the Christmas courses because the students are taught that they're selling happiness," Miss Loos said.

The state training program covers work in department, specialty, food, furniture, hardware, paint and drug stores as well as restaurants, interior decorating shops, dry cleaners, life underwriting firms, service stations, hotels and inns, and financial institutions.

Miss Loos said it is especially welcomed by the small businessman who does not have facilities for extensive training of personnel. More types of courses are offered in the larger cities.

The courses vary in length from several meetings to a semester or a year, depending on the subject. Classes are held either in the day or evening, depending upon the needs and desires of those attending.

They might be in the school, a private meeting room, chamber of commerce room or a business establishment.

Japan leads the world in fisheries production with an average of almost 3,000,000 metric tons of fish a year, says the National Geographic Society. Next are the United States with 2,500,000, Russia and Norway 1,100,000 each.

J. C. SHARROCK
Caledonia Man To Retire

Real Estate Dealer To Retire After 40 Years in Business

After 50 years as a real estate broker, J. C. Sharrock of Caledonia has announced plans to retire, effective Jan. 1.

Outstanding in his 40-year career, which was spent entirely in Caledonia, Sharrock said was that he had never had a foreclosure.

The Caledonia man, who retired from an even older auctioneering career two years ago, can remember one real estate transaction pretty vividly. It involved President Warren G. Harding, who engaged Sharrock to buy back a 250-acre homestead in Morrow County at Bloominggrove, east of Galion.

Bucyrus Judge Sets Injunction

Court Order Prevents Disruption of Service

BUCYRUS — A temporary injunction preventing the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. from discontinuing service at a Bucyrus residence owned by Dr. G. W. Grant, Bucyrus dentist, has been issued here by Crawford County Common Pleas Judge John C. Carroll.

Petition for a temporary and permanent injunction to prevent the gas company from discontinuing service to the residence, which is occupied by Elmer J. Cosgrove, was filed by Dr. Grant, who also is an attorney.

According to his petition, the gas company informed Cosgrove Dec. 3 that he installed a gas furnace in violation of an order by the Ohio Public Utilities Commission and that its use should be discontinued by Dec. 13.

Grant charges that a coal furnace that had been in use was termed "unsafe" by a competent furnace man and that he installed the gas furnace last September. He alleges that his tenant's family are dependent upon gas for heat and that curtailment of the service would endanger the halth of all and cause financial hardship to the Cosgrove family.

The Bucyrus dentist and attorney further charges that the utilities commission order is discriminatory and violates a contract entered into by the city of Bucyrus and the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Several hundred applications for permits to install gas heating are on file at company's offices here.

Budget Fate Hangs On Defense Needs, Knowland Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said today the fate of budget balancing and possible tax reduction efforts will depend on how much President Eisenhower asks Congress to vote in defense funds.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said in an interview he expects lawmakers to be given Thursday figures on the over-all defense outlay for the year beginning July 1. White House talks with key Republican members of Congress on the administration's legislative program for 1954 begin on that day.

"Until we get the recommendations of the Defense Department and the joint chiefs of staff on the military program, it will be difficult to come to grips with other budget figures," Knowland observed.

DOES it cost more to have Schaffner-Denzer service if you live in the surrounding territory, perhaps ten or twenty miles away? That's a question which is frequently asked, and to which we're always glad to give the emphatic answer: "There's absolutely NO additional mileage charge in such cases!

The Schaffner-Denzer name, the Schaffner-Denzer reputation, are both well known for miles around, and it's only natural that those who are familiar with our reputation should prefer Schaffner-Denzer service in time of need. Since Schaffner-Denzer service costs no more, even though you live miles away, there's no reason why you should not have Schaffner-Denzer service —and many good reasons why, when the need arises, you SHOULD call us.

Ken Schultz, Wimpy Jones Lead Barons in 9-2 Win

Both Skaters Notch 3-Goal Hat Tricks in IHL Victory

Kenny Schult and Wimpy Jones took charge of the Marion Barons' attack yesterday at the Coliseum and led the local skaters to an easy 9-2 win over the Grand Rapids Rockets. Both Marion stars turned in three - goal hat tricks.

The win left the Barons in third place in the International Hockey League race. They had been bumped out of second Saturday night when Johnstown whipped the same Rockets. The Jets played Louisville yesterday and moved into first place ahead of idle Cincinnati after a win.

Goals Scattered

Jones scattered his three goals evenly through the game after his first put the Barons ahead to stay after four minutes and eight seconds of play. Schultz also scored one in the first period but picked up a pair of quick ones near the end of the game. He scored his second with two minutes and 25 seconds remaining and added the third with a minute and 54 seconds to go.

The Barons scored almost at will against the sieve-like Grand Rapids defense. The Rockets after the first five minutes were never able to check the speedy Marion forwards and the Barons' defenders, Steve Brklacich, Ott Heller, Phil Vitale and Ted Lebioda, consistently kept the Rockets away from the Marion goal. Lou Crowdis handled only 16 chances during the game. The Marion attackers meanwhile were shooting at Doug Coxon, Rockets' goalie, 32 times.

Jones was assisted on his opening score by Gordie Vejprava and Vitale. He blasted the score past Coxon when the goalie moved to the side to protect against Vejprava. Jones took Vejprava's pass for the score. Two minutes later at the 10:07 mark, Schultz hit his first score with an assist going to Hal Jones. Joe Ingoldsby completed the first period scoring at the 12:37 mark with an assist from Murray Wilkie and Heller. The first period was marked by a fight between Bob Turner and Dutch Delmonte. The two locked horns after 17:27 and were banished to the penalty box after being separated by officials Len Lore and Ed Sabe. Both waited out five-minute penalties.

Lead Increased

Delmonte stretched the Maron lead after 10:01 of the second period. He batted the goal in after a pileup in front of the net. Rocket skaters argued he had interfered with Coxon but the Grand Rapids goalie was out of the crease at the time. Vejprava and Wimpy Jones were credited with assists. Gordon Warner broke the ice for the visitors when he notched an unassisted goal after 14:21. Jones got the score back with his second one at the 17:26 mark after an assist by Delmonte. The score gave the Barons a 5-1 lead at the start of the final period.

The Grand Rapids defense fell completely apart in the final stanza. Vejprava skated through for the opening score after taking a combination pass from Wimpy Jones and Delmonte after 4:16 of play. Ed Montigny hit for the Rockets after 6:04. He grabbed a loose disc and skated the length of the rink for the score.

A pass from Vejprava to Jones followed and Jones skated in for his hat trick. Schultz' second goal came after a pass from Steve Brklacich and his third was made possible by a pass from Hal Jones and Tony Poeta.

The Rockets' Moose Lallo and Poeta were the only casualties of the game. Neither was injured seriously. Lallo left the game in the second period after a collision with Delmonte. He suffered a minor charley horse but say no further action. Poeta suffered a cut of the eye which was injured last week at Cincinnati. Eight stitches were placed below the eye in that game and yesterday the scrappy winger received two others above the eye.

A total of 2,104 fans watched the game Sunday. During the intermission between the first and second periods they were treated to a brief skating exhibition by Miss Anne Gillies, Canadian gold medalist who is skating instructor at the Coliseum.

Two wins by the Johnstown Jets over the weekend lifted them into first place. The league-leading Cincinnati Mohawks were idle. The Jets now top the league race with 32 points. Cincinnati has 31 and the Barons are hot on their heels with 30. The Barons play at Johnstown tomorrow night and could tie for the league lead with a win.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Nate Wallick of the Cleveland Indians was in Marion last week winding up preparations for the appearance Friday night of the Harlem Globetrotters.

SHORT

Nate will sail into a lengthy discussion of baseball at any time and he was in rare form during his visit. He was more than disappointed at the trade which took Jackie Jensen from the Washington Senators to the Boston Red Sox in exchange for Tommy Umphlett and Maury McDermott.

The Indians have been interested in Jensen since he left the New York Yankees and Nate gave every indication Hank Greenberg had been hopeful of making the deal.

According to Wallick only stumbling block to the deal was the price asked by the Nats. From the Indians they wanted Mike Garcia and Dale Mitchell for the right-handed slugger.

Wallick refused to commit himself on what players the Tribe might be interested in landing. However, he gave a hint some trades might be forthcoming.

"We're pretty well fixed," he said. "A little help in a few spots and the team will be ready for play." He seemed extra careful to veer away from the right-field question or the catching strength of the Indians.

As for the Cleveland fans, Nate sees the Indians as the No. 1 or 2 drawing card in the major leagues next summer. Only the Milwaukee Braves could outdraw them and that popularity would fade should the Braves find themselves slipping.

THE BIG KILL. T. J. Fitzpatrick of 308 Pearl St. turned in the biggest pheasant tail feather of the recent season. His prize was bagged on the last day of the season.

The feather measured 26¼ inches long, Don Hinton reported. It was longer than the usual feather. Hinton reported tail feathers this year were shorter than usual.

St. Mary Faces Tiffin, Fostoria On Home Floor

St. Mary makes its first home appearance of the year Tuesday night on the Coliseum floor against Fostoria St. Wendelin.

The contest, third of the year for the Irish, will mark the first of two home engagements this week. A tough Tiffin Calvert five comes in Saturday night.

Both squads downed the locals by lop-sided margins last year. The Fostoria crew will bring a 2-3 mark into the clash after dropping an 89-60 decision to Sandusky St. Marys Sunday. The visitors had beaten Genoa 49-41 Friday.

The locals won't have to worry about the big thorn in their side last season in the 64-46 loss to the Fostoria crew. Jim Krupp, a 5-11 forward, who hit for 588 points in 20 games to pace his team to an impressive mark, has graduated. He dropped in 41 points against the locals.

St. Wendelin has a well-balanced attack this season and no single big gun. Dick Walters, center, Fostoria's tallest man at 6-0, hit for 12 points and Torres, a forward, for 10 in the loss to Sandusky.

Walters is the only experienced man on this year's squad. Other starters will likely be Dave Kelbley at a forward, Francis Nye at a guard, and Bob Hoover at the other guard spot.

Against Genoa, Torres and Hoover each hit for 13 points. Next came Kelbley and Nye with seven.

Prior to the pair of games the past weekend, the Mohawks had beaten Norwalk St. Paul but dropped decisions to Rising Sun and Van Buren. Ken Herman, veteran coach at St. Wendelin, is again leading the fortunes of the Mohawks.

The Calvert crew belted the locals 83-69 last season as Rohrback hit for 36 points, Sullivan for 20 and Reamer for 15.

Coach Ray Robbins' Irish will be seeking their second win of the season. They opened with a 55-50 win over Carey but were edged last Friday night by Mt. Gilead 53-51.

Former Harding Cagers Will See Holiday Action

Former Harding cagers may get the chance to play ball at the school's new gym.

According to Athletic Coordinator Kenney Somerlot, the Harding Athletic Department is making tentative plans to schedule a game between two alumni squads sometime during the Christmas holidays.

The game will be scheduled a a time convenient for most of the prospective players and which will not conflict with any other high school games in the city.

Somerlot said he hopes the game will become an annual event. Former varsity players interested in playing are urged to contact either Howard Gilbert at 2-8895 or Somerlot at 3-1438 or 2-5701.

Bowling

Mary Brown's 181-481 and Ken Thome's 210-571 topped bowlers in the Mr. and Mrs. League at Marion Recreation Sunday.

Ladies Commercial League keglers were paced by Zoe DeMilt's 191 and Virginia Eby's 525. The former also hit a 523 series while Jo Ann Zimmerman rolled 514. Team honors were taken by Marion Industries No. 1 with 753 and Mel's Jewelers with 2239.

George Barkley's 209-551 was tops in the Cooler League. Assembly hit 924-2509 fro team honors.

Erie League bowlers were paced by Ivan Spires' 233 and Frank Eiseman Jr.'s 578. Team No. 6 with 900-2594 copped team laurels.

Elm Valley Cagers Handed First Loss

ASHLEY — A sharp-shooting Johnstown club edged Elm Valley 50-46 here Saturday night in a Mid-Buckeye League encounter. It marked Elm Valley's first loss of the campaign.

The visitors, who hit on 53 percent of their shots, went ahead 18-7 in the opening period and the losers were never able to catch up. However, after trailing by 10 points at the half and threequarter marks, the losers managed to cut the winners' margin to four points.

The losers outhit the winners from the field by two field goals but the winning margin for Johnstown came on 18 foul shots. Elm Valley hit on only 10.

Cleveland with 17 points and Almendinger with 12 paced the winners' attack. John Humes had 17 for Elm Valley while Gene Borden added 13 and Walt Borchers dropped in 10. Elm Valley's futures posted their first win of the season, 31-26, in the preliminary. The locals travel to Mt. Gilead Friday for a Mid-Ohio Conference clash.

Trabert, Connolly Head Net Seedings

NEW YORK (AP)—To the surprise of no one, Tony Trabert and Maureen Connolly, are rated at the top in the annual seedings of the ranking committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

The seedings, announced yesterday, are not official until next month's annual meeting of the USLTA, when they will be acted upon. It is a foregone conclusion, however, that both Miss Connolly, the national champion from San Diego, Calif., and Trabert, the ex-sailor from Cincinnati, will retain the top rankings.

Opening Game

Generals, Mercurys Boast Several Top-Flight Stars

Although the Harlem Globetrotter-Philadelphia Spha game will be the headline attraction at the Coliseum Friday night, the preliminary contest between th Washington Generals and the Toledo Mercurys also figues to be a top-flight show.

Carrying a roster of former midwestern collegiate stars, the Mercurys are the only independent pro team to score a victory over the Globetrotters. Owned and coached by Sid Goldberg, the Mercs are the former Toledo Jeops, who had an impressive record in the now defunct National Basketball League.

Listed on the Toledo lineup are Bob "Peanuts" Long, Jack Kennedy, Angie Cuttaia, George Lindeman and Frank Sloan, all formr Toledo University stars. Completing the roster is Captain Frank Golhooley, Notre Dame; Ed Grecius, DePau,; and Jerry Fowler, Missouri.

The Generals are newcomers to the nomad basketball scene, but made a good showing in their first season last year. They are now ranked as one of the top four or five independent pro teams in the country.

Louis "Red" Klotz, the 5-7 former Villanova star, leads the Washington team as its playing coach. A veteran of pro basketball he has seen action with such clubs as the Philadelphia Sphas, Baltimore Bullets and the New York Celtics.

Also appearing on the General roster are Richard Crosby, Walter Dukes' teammate at Seton Hall; Joe Smythe, Niagara University; Jim Coyle, St. John of Brooklyn and Bill Schyman, DePaul.

In the main attraction, the Globetrotters will be boasting their usual lineup of stellar performers. Heading the team, of course, will be Reece "Goose" Tatum. He'll get assistance from a stellar crew including newcomer Walter Dukes, last year's all-American from Seton Hall.

Friday night's program gets under way with the preliminary game at 8 p.m. Tickets for the show are now on sale at Henney Cooper, 136 W. Center St., and at the National City Bank in Marion.

Al Baccari of the Providence Reds in the American Hockey League scored the winning goal in three of the first four victories for his team this season.

Don't let a used car's price tag Blind you!

Remember! It's where you buy that counts. Check the price, of course. But check the dealer, too!

An unusually "good deal" on a used car is not necessarily a good value. But we Ford Dealers can put rock bottom price tags on A-1 used cars because we don't depend upon used car profits to stay in business. We sell used cars mainly as a service to our customers who trade them for new cars. Naturally, we must keep these used cars moving to make room for the constant stream of trade-ins we get.

We know it pays to play square with you. We want your good will . . . your service business. And, some day, we want to sell you a new car or another used car. So our good reputation rides with the used cars we sell. When you can trust the dealer, you can trust the used car, too.

Radio and Television

By John Crosby

Time Out of Hand

CARACAS, VENEZUELA — Americans I've always felt, are slaves to their watches and at least part of this reverence we pay to the hour hand can be blamed on broadcasting. It was radio that elevated the hour and the half hour to special importance. At 8 o'clock we listen to Fibber and Molly, at 9 to Bob Hope.

J. CROSBY

In fact, some years ago Jack Benny took over 7 to 7:30 on Sunday nights, as a present from the National Broadcasting. Co. Thus Benny, according to Fred Allen, became the first man in history to own his own half hour. Down here, the American system of starting programs on the hour and the half hour is observed largely in the breach. That is, programs are usually scheduled to start at 7 p.m. or 7:30. And, in general, they're supposed to stop at the half hour.

-:-

BUT THEY DON'T. A news program scheduled at 8 p.m. the other night casually went on the air at 8:19 and ran its 15 - minute course, demolishing the whole evening schedule. Half - hour programs have been known to run 45 minutes — or to end leisurely five or ten minutes early. No one seems to mind—except, of course, the North Americans to whom these half - hour breaks are so sacred.

At one station here it is the custom, when a program scheduled to end at 7:30 ends at 7:40, simply to turn the clock back to 7:30 which makes everyone feel horribly efficient. By the end of the day, after the clocks have been repeatedly adjusted, no one has any idea what time it really is—or especially cares.

In one control room I visited, the clock, apparently indignant at this tampering, had simply stopped altogether. It was a North American clock, of course. This indifference to time I found rather more charming than irritating. A couple of times I rushed to the set, figuring I had missed the first five minutes of a show. But the shows hadn't even started.

AND THE FACT that one show goes off the air doesn't mean that another one is coming right on. Sometimes there are intervals of five or ten minutes in which the station will throw a passel of commercials at you. Sometimes you just look at the test pattern. A fine interval for mixing drinks or talking to friends, though it would drive an American station manager out of his wits.

Some years ago, John Lardner, the noted sports scribe, scribed an essay about the future when onlookers at sporting events would simply be a studio audience for the television people. That situation has already come to pass down here. Wrestling (if you can call that a sport) is staged entirely for the television audience. The wrestling matches are performed in a vacant lot. Anyone can wander in and watch without charge.

BEHIND ONE WRESTLER, who was dressed as an Arabian sheik, was a huge sign advertising Chesterfield. The other wrestler kept bouncing the sheik off the Chesterfield sign, whether by design or no, I couldn't say. Very entertaining though. The quality of the acting in Venezuelan wrestling is at least as high as our own and maybe a little bit better.

The quality of the acting on the other entertainments is a bit of a problem. There is practically no talent pool here at all. Other South American capitals have both local talent and quite a lot of visiting talent. Caracas has neither. Consequently, they have had to create it.

The girl who played one of the two leads on Jean Cocteau's "The Eagle With Two Heads," one of the more ambitious enterprises on local TV, had never had any acting experience before. Consensus was that she turned in a remarkable performance. "Les Sylvides," another large undertaking by Venezuelan standards, was performed by ballet students.

-:-

THE BEST THINGS I have seen here are not European imports like "Sylvides" but strictly domestic culture like the Venezuelan country dances which have a savage and yet amazingly well - disciplined exuberance about then and would, I think, be an eyeful on our own television.

Marion Boy Held After Stolen Auto Is Involved in Crash

A 14-year-old Marion boy is being held by Springfield authorities after a stolen car he was driving was demolished in a four-vehicle accident there Saturday night. The boy and four hitchhiker passengers received slight injuries in the accident.

The car, owned by E. J. Lee of Hotel Harding, was stolen early Saturday evening from the McDaniel Motor Co. garage where it was being stored.

Marion police discovered the theft upon investigation after receiving a report of the accident from Springfield authorities at 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

Police Captain Justin Cornely said this morning that it is not known for sure how the youth stole the car but it is believed he probably hid in the garage and took the vehicle after the garage closed.

2 Teen-Age Boys Admit Entering Prospect Store

Two teen-age boys are in the Marion County Juvenile Detention Home awaiting a hearing Wednesday afternoon in Juvenile Court on charges of breaking and entering.

The boys, aged 15 and 16, were apprehended Friday by the Marion County sheriff's office and admitted breaking into the Harry Lauer clothing store in Prospect Nov. 25. They took two boxes each of 410 shotgun shells, 22 rifle shells, and 32 revolver shells, as well as a leather cap.

Entry into the store was made by removing several hooks on a rear door, sheriff's office records indicate.
